3. NUTI MEI TE MAPU CICC SOUTHLAND, NZ

Kia orana and greetings in the mighty and holy name of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Kia orana to members on the CICC Executive Council, ministers and your congregations in the Cook Islands, here in New Zealand, and Australia. I am happy to report some of the activities of the CICC South Island Youth Council. During the Labour Weekend (23-25 October 2010) our council had its first youth rally which was hosted by Christchurch. The youth groups that came together were the Christchurch and mid-Canterbury CICC youth with the company of their Ekalesias. Due to some difficulties our brothers and sisters from Invercargill could not join us. The weekend was co-ordinated, organised and run by our Youth Council Secretary Rowena Marsters with the help of Poko Tipoki (council treasurer) and the support from both Ekalesias and youth groups that weekend.

Our theme for the weekend was; Let us shine for Christ. The Weekend started on Saturday with the arrival of our brothers and sisters from Mid-Canterbury. After breakfast, the official opening was done by Papa Tauturu Orometua Matamaru Tongia (Christchurch) and by the Youth Council Secretary Rowena Marsters. The weekend consist of activities: sports, e.g. volleyball and touch rugby (Saturday), confident course (Saturday), cultural night performed by each youth group (Saturday – action song, drum dance, ute, pee and string band), breakfast, lunch, dinner, devotion (morning and night), youth service and youth rally performed by each youth group (Sunday – praise & worship, creative, drama, imene tuki).

All duties and responsibilities, for example devotion, clean up, etc., were shared amongst the allocated groups which was a mixture of Mid-Canterbury and Christchurch youth. This was a big challenge and I believe through Christ this weekend was a successful and joyful weekend for everyone who participated. May God continue to be with us, strengthen us and guide us throughout our walk with Him and may everyone have a safe and happy Christmas and New Year 2011. To conclude, Deuteronomy 31:6 says, "Be determined and confident. Do not be afraid of them. Your God the Lord himself, will be with you. He will not fail you nor abandon you."

Glory be to God now and forever more, Amen!

(Written by Rowena Marsters, Secretary, CICC Southland Youth Council)

5. KARERE MEI TE APII TAKAMOA

Kia orana to all member churches both in the Cook Islands and abroad from your beloved college. We have come to the end of this academic year after the final exams of the students. Their academic reports will soon be sent out to their respective churches by email and fax. This year has been very challenging both to the students, their families as well as the college.

We give thanks to the Sovereign God, for His unfailing love to us as well as our families both near and far, agape wise and health wise. We also remember one of the students who is now in New Zealand for medical referral. She is Mrs. Kairangi Saitu the wife of Tekerangi Saitu. We pray that the Lord Almighty will bring healing upon her illness with the hope that she will be back in Takamoa in the near future.

The students will all remain on campus while spending their holiday on the island. The men folk are encouraged to seek employment locally as a means to help their families and also Christmas shopping.

We also give thanks to the Rarotonga Church Council for their endless support of the students in different ways, the 6 churches around the island for their kindness in accepting the students to fit into their programmes of the year. Not forgetting the many friends and supporters who have come and gone throughout the year. Meitaki maata kia kotou katoatoa.

Last but not the least, to all my colleagues, fellow ministers, lecturers both local and abroad, brothers and sisters in the ministry, too many to mention individually, thank you for your support over the many years of your service to the college, very much appreciated.

As the year comes to a close we are also drawn towards the Christmas and New Year festivities. Let us not lose hope of the Redeemer to come with good tidings of great joy. This is the joy of the whole world.

Let me close with the words of Ezekiel, "... a new heart will I give you... a new spirit will I put in you... and a heart of flesh... walk in My statutes... keep My judgments... you shall be my people and I will be your God...." (Ezekiel 11:19, 10)

To God be the glory.

(by Rev. Vakaroto Ngaro, Principal)

REFLECTIONS

JOURNAL OF A VOYAGE

This is a 9-part series of the record by Rev. John Williams during his trip to the Cook Islands in 1823. Deciphered from the original by Winnie Risto in March 2010 while residing with husband Herbert Risto in Rarotonga. Some punctuation has been added by Winnie to enhance the meaning, but most has been left as it was in John Williams' Journal. The Ristos are from Canada and have been visiting Rarotonga since the 1960s; Herbert teaches at the Takamoa Theological College while in Rarotonga.

Chapter 3

He exhorted them to be diligent in their houses, in their books, and in their persons that when Rev. & Mrs. Tyerman(?) and G. Bennet(?) Esq. should visit them they might have reason to rejoice and carry a good report to England. He further expressed his pleasure at the gracious act of Tamatoa the chief into whose care he gave Papeiha and Vahapate and of the people also who had treated them kindly.

We assured them that the teachers would soon return when we would send them a great number of spelling books. It was indeed a pleasing sight to see upwards of 1000 persons of the most clothed many with long hair, many decorated with various ornaments, all looking very steadfastly- listening with great attention and behaving with the greatest respect and order during the whole of the service. When we said the closing prayer there was a general rustling and the very persons who not long since who were killing and even eating each other all with one accord bent their knees in the worship of the living and true God.

After the service was ended we went inland and as we walked along we saw two idols that had been used for posts for a house. We purchased them for a fish hook each. They, pleased with the exchange, pulled them out in an instant and propped the house with others. We then went to the teacher's house to take our leave of them. We desired them to select from among the professors as soon as prudent- those who they thought were sincere in their profession and were acting consistently with their profession and prepare to baptize them when the leaders from the London Missionary Society should visit them. After taking an affectionate leave of them we committed them to God and the power of His grace and left them well pleased with the prospect of blessings before them. May great grace rest upon them and great blessing attend their labours.

Our remaining among them only created confusion and as we had accomplished all we could we thought the sooner we left the better. As we came down to the beach we were much disgusted at seeing several women cut and scratched shockingly- the blood streaming from their heads, faces, breasts, arms and legs. Their cries and shrieks and bellowing was frightful. We asked them why they cut and hacked themselves so- they replied they were crying at parting with their friends. We saw only women do it. We told them how disgusting it was and inconsistent with their present profession. There is, perhaps, not a woman on the Island whose arms, bosom and breasts are not scarred and more or less, from this barbarous practice. The old Chief we were bringing away with us conducted himself very well. Every friend he met he seized and after he had given his friend's nose a hearty rub on his own nose he walked on quite unconcerned about the hideous cries they set up. They loaded us with all kinds of food that their Island produced. We purchased a canoe for our Rarotongan trip with 3 knives, and in the evening set out for Rarotonga after spending two most gratifying days and nights- the most joyful scenes that can ever present themselves to the eyes of a missionary of Jesus Christ.

We had on board the young king of Aitutaki and his wife, the Grandfather and his wife-bringing away with us to Raitea Papeiha, one of the former teachers at Aitutaki, thinking he would be valuable as being able to talk to and understand the people of the Islands we intended to visit – we had likewise 6 Rarotongan people who had embraced Christianity and whom we hoped would be valuable assistants in introducing the gospel of Jesus into the Island.

The people of Aitutaki are in a most primitive state and very wild but we think receptive. The only thing that can possibly tame them and improve their present condition is the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ. There is now an essential difference in them since Mr. Williams first saw them. They were then stealing everything they could get at - ends of rope, pieces of wood to which ropes are made fast on board ship – even some fish bought from them at that time they stole away again. Their faces were painted white, red, and yellow and others were smeared with charcoal. Men and woman were dancing and shouting like mad people. Now, nothing of the kind is to be seen and not an article was stolen except a small piece of iron by which the pumps of the vessel are sounded which a man was endeavoring to take away.

The Island of Aitutaki is situated 15 W. _ moderately high- very fertile. Bananas and taro are very abundant. Cocoa Nutts and breadfruit are neither so plentiful or so fine as those of the Society Islands. There are no quadrupeds of any kind in the Island except rats and of them there is an astonishing number. They are as plentiful as flies on a summer's day. A company were seated on the ground feasting. A rat came up to partake of their food. A man took it by the tail threw it away and continued his feast. Others came and he took one between his thumb and finger and finished it off and threw it away saying to us- see it is dead. Of the others he took no more concern than we would of a fly. We had much conversation with the Rarotongans on board respecting their land and customs. They say it is a large high Island numerously inhabited having different districts but they are very ignorant of its bearings from Aitutaki so that we fear we shall have difficulty in finding it. They sometimes point south, at other times south east and at other times SW. The Rarotongan people's hair was cut today. They swarm with vermin. The improvement it makes in their appearance is great.

12. We have not yet found Rarotonga. The people give us an account of a large, well inhabited Island called Auau and say that there are those natives of Auau at Rarotonga - which circumstance may greatly facilitate the introduction of Christianity should we be successful in finding the Island. It is remarkable that the natives of these Islands give the names of all the Society and Pumotu Islands and the Society Islands have the names of all these Islands in their traditions by what means they obtained them is not understandable.

13. Wind unfavorable, have not yet seen Rarotonga. It being Sabbath day, we had a service. Mr. Williams spoke from the 10th chapter of John- other sheep I have. Not having found Rarotonga, we determined to look for the Island of Mangaia, laid down by Captain Cook in 21-56S-158.3 W. On the 18th we made the land and were up with it by day light. It is a large, and to all appearance, a very fertile Island. Trees appear at the very summits of the mountains which are of a moderate height. We sailed along the Island for a considerable amount of time but saw no trace of inhabitants for we had seen the lights they use in fishing during the nights. At length we spied a number of natives on a sandy part of the beach waving cloth for us to come on shore. While as no canoe came off to us we determined to do so. The boat being lowered down, Papeiha, the teacher we had brought with us from Aitutaki, Haavi, a teacher from Tahaa, intended for that Island, were sent with instructions to keep out at sea and converse with the people – having the reef between them. They were to state our object in visiting them, to propose that two teachers should be brought on shore and reside with them to instruct them in the word of the true God and to endeavor to get the Chief and his wife on board that we might try to persuade them to go with us to Tahaa to inform them of all that had been done at Aitutaki.

THE COMING OF GOODENOUGH'S BOAT

TO RAROTONGA IN 1820

(3 years before the arrival of the Gospel to Rarotonga in 1823)

Written by Maretu, a church minister from Ngati Tangiia

(The Native part of this account is copied from the Rev. Chalmer's copy, which had been written apparently to supply the numerous omission of words in the original copy by Maretu himself. This is the first part of a long story of Maretu's life and work, which practically gives a history of Rarotonga from 1820 to 1840. Amongst Dr. Wyatt Gill papers is the following, which, perhaps, is copied from a tombstone:

“MARETU”

“A missionary from Nga-Tangiia, who died 25th January, 1880. He was admitted into the church on 31st August, 1833, and he then took up the work of God. He assisted the Rev. Mr. Pitman in teaching the Gospel at Nga-Tangiia; and it was he who built up the church at Mangaia Island and at Manihiki Island. Subsequently he became guardian of the church at Nga-Tangiia in Rarotonga. He was engaged for 47 years in the work of God.”

We do not know the name of Goodenough's vessel, but he himself was one of the early traders to New Zealand from Sydney. The little that is known about him is not much to his credit. He was the first white man to land on Rarotonga, though the island was not discovered by him, but by McCoy, the acting-captain of the celebrated “Bounty,” who, on his way back to Tahiti after the mutiny had occurred, and after they had set adrift Captain Bligh, R.N., in a boat near the Tonga Group, the “Bounty” laid to off Rarotonga, and McCoy was therefore its first European discoverer. But naturally McCoy had no chance of reporting his discovery, for after a stay at Tahiti he took the “Bounty” on to Pitcairn Island, and there ran her ashore. Maretu describes as follows the visit of the “Bounty”: “There came here a very large ship, but the people did not land. Two canoes went off to that ship, and bartered some goods from the white people, amongst them the Anae, or they purchased these things with fowls, coconuts, and bananas. As they left, a man named Maia stole a large box from the ship, and in it was found the orange and the motini, or Makare (McCoy) was the name of the captain. One of the chiefs who went on board, named Tamarua, reported that they had taro swamps and young banana trees, besides young bread-fruit trees and many packages of ande, or with stones (? iron) also. They were wild with astonishment at that ship. It was from thence we obtained the first oranges, whilst Kaputini procured a mautini from there.” This was in the year 1788, about the month of May.

The Rev. William Gill in his “Gems from the Coral Islands” (Ward and Co., London, 1850) was the first, we think, to report Goodenough's proceedings at Rarotonga. The Rev. John Williams (the martyr of Erromanga), in his “Missionary Enterprises,” of 1846, does not say anything about Goodenough's visit, and hence he has always been accredited with the discovery of the island. It was John Williams, no doubt, who first reported its existence to the world.

Mr. Savage has been good enough to look through this MS. and make some corrections. The following is the translation of Maretu's account:

“Formerly, in the heathen times of Rarotongan, a white man's ship came, whose captain's name was Kurunaki (his New Zealand Maori name was Kurunape), whilst Tivini (? Stevens) was the mate; Tiaori, Tere, Taparau, and Tumu were the names of other white men (of the crew). Kaoa and Tino were black men, and Veretini and Tupe were New Zealanders. Te Are and Tomi were from Tahiti, with their wives Tavai and Tumai. There were two white women named Mere (Mary) and Nati, but there were four white women altogether on the ship.

The ship anchored in the harbor at Vai-kokopu, Nga-Tangiia (east side of the island). Their object was to dig nono (a tree plant). They remained here for three months. That ship brought certain news; it was told by Veretini: they told about God, whose name was Tiova (Jehovah) and Tititarai (Jesus Christ). He was the great God of heaven and of all countries—such was the name they disclosed.

Trouble grew up with that ship, partly due to the Rarotonga people, who incited the white men to take food, coconuts, pigs, and women. The women were also another cause of trouble on account of their desire for the white men; and the white men were also to blame because they followed after the women and carried them on board the ship. There were sixty natives engaged in the white men's work in digging the nono.

This was another cause of trouble: Veretini (the New Zealander) and Te Are (the Tahitian) went with the Nga-Tangiia and Te Au O Tonga people to make war on Aro-rangi (at the west side of the island). Te Are shot at some of the Afro-rangi people and killed four of them. Then Veretini took the gun in order to fire on the body of the people who were on the mountain standing close together and in a line.

- No to be confounded with Dr. William Wyatt Gill
- The nono in the Morinda citrifolia, a shrub, the wood of which is yellow and of no use. Rev. W. Gill suggests that Goodenough mistook it for Sandlewook, and hence his collecting it.

Tua-ivi asked Veretini if the bullets would reach them; he replied, "One shot will kill them all; not one will live!" Then said Tua-ivi, "Do not shoot at them; they are relatives of mine." That was the end of it; the war-parties returned home—there were four people killed on that day.

There was a man named Tupe (a New Zealander) from the ship, who dwelt ashore with the son of the chief Pa; he had married a native woman. He taught the Rarotongan people a method, or laid a scheme, by which the white men could be killed. One of the Rarotonga men, named Kurikuri, a relation of Pa, disclosed this scheme to the officers of the ship.

Then some of the white men came ashore at early dawn; and when they reached Turangi, the village where that man Tupe was staying, they called out, "Tupe!" Tupe got up and came outside the house, when (the white men) caught him and killed that New Zealander, and then the party returned to the ship. This was the commencement of the trouble with that ship that stayed at the island.

(Another trouble was) the nono growing in front of the marae about to be dug up by the white men; the people became angry at the defilement, or desecration, of the marae; the food was taken right up to Arai-te-tonga, belonging to Makea Tinirau. The store-house of coconuts belonging to Makea was taken away to Nga-Tangiia to be placed on the ship by the men who had charge of the store-house. When Rupe learned this he was sorry on account of his elder brother's (property), and he followed up the white men with the coconuts, overtaking them at Titama, where they were resting, the white men and the man carrying the coconuts. Rupe said to the men that two of the white men should be killed—Tiaori and Tere—those were the ones to be killed.

Rupe came to Turangi and entered the house of Tupe (New Zealander) and asked for an axe. "Give me the axe! I am going to cut some wood." He did not disclose his intention to kill the white men. He took the axe, and when he had reached Avana, at Kai-reva, where was the house of Te Ika-moe-ava, he found Vertini (the New Zealander) at the door, drunk with the native kava, and two Rarotonga women cleaning his head of lice. Rupe called to him, "Ö Rangi!" and when he (Veretini) turned his head to Rupe, the latter made a blow at his neck and cut off his head, the body falling another way. This man (? Veretini) was a fine man and a brave one, with a tattooed face, a son-in-law of the natives, who gave him the name of Rangi. Rupe did not lament or condole with their daughter (she was probably a niece of Rupe, daughter covers much more than one's own daughter) named Rangi uira, who was the wife of Veretini. He turned the body of the man over into the house. This man, Tua-ivi, was Makea Tua-ivi of the Karika family.

Just then Tivini, the mate, and Taparau (white man) arrived on the scene, and called out to Rangi (? Veretini). Rupe came forth from the house and struck at Taparau with the axe; he fell down dead, whilst Tivini made off for the ship; Rupe gave chase but did not overtake him. Tivini fired at him, but had no ball in his gun. So Tivini escaped, and getting into the boat went off to the ship, where he reported that the white men had been killed shore. Great fear now came upon the natives who were working for the white people on board the ship lest they should be killed (in revenge). But the white men did not attempt to harm them.

Now this was the cause why the white men were killed the plundering of the coconut store-house of Makea; hence was Rupe enraged and killed the white men, as he said (he would do) to the man at Titama. He followed them up to Matavera, where he found Tere and killed him; his body was cut up and eaten. Then he followed on to Pouara, where he caught another, Tiaori, whom he also killed; his body was stolen by the heathens and eaten. When the chiefs Pa and Kainuku heard of this they were very angry. They were told it was on account of the taking of the coconuts from Makea's store-houses.

When Moe-itiki-oki heard that some white men had been killed, he killed the white woman Nati; he ate this woman who was staying (as a guest) in his house. "Alas! the heathen!" There was no compassion shown to this fine woman. She was the fourth one of the white people who had been killed three men and one woman. Veretini, the New Zealander, made the fifth.

When evening arrived, the white men came ashore to fight. The people of Nga-Tangiia and Avarua had hidden themselves in the forest. The boat landed with the white people to catch them; one named Tumu (white man) brought with him his gun and shot a native named Kitikiti-akiri, who fell down dead. The people had fled inland, taking with them to the mountains their goods and their gods, and stayed there six days. Then the arikis, or high chiefs, came forth to make peace offerings- pigs, kava, and food to fetch the officers ashore. Then they saluted the white men by rubbing noses, and carried some nono to the ship. After his had been done, the white men paid the natives who had been working for them, and sent them ashore.

When the ship sailed away they took with them Tapairu-ariki, Mata-kava-au, and Kupauta, the two former of whom they left at Aitutaki Island, whilst Kupauta was taken on to Panape (Ponape of the Caroline Group, north-west Pacific), where he was left and where he learnt the word of God, and from there, it is said, he was returned and left at Tupua'i Island, where he married two women, and afterwards died there."

(here ends Maretu's account of these proceedings. We have altered in translation the position of two of the paragraphs, as they were not in their proper order in the original.)

Amongst Dr. Wyatt Gill's MSS is the following song, which bears on the above events and mentions many of the names. As it was evidently composed at the time of Goodenough's departure, it is valuable as a confirmation of the foregoing.

E AKATARA, NO TE TAMAINA A RUPE I TE RIROANGA KI TE PAI O KURUNAKI Na Itio i tata, 1820

Tena te kimi te kimi, aua ana ra toro e
Te kimi i a Veia raua ma Apetini,
I to raua Tuaine kua riro ki te pai
A uira ma te aa, i te kave i te metua
Ki te oko auri, kua rauka te tia
Omai ki te enua, kia ei nga ariki
Me koai te kite
Tena a Tiaori te taki i te kava
I te ere i te puaka, i te titiri i te akari,
Kua matakutaku Takitumu ma Te Au-o-tonga
Puai-kura te vaka, te vaka i puia ki te rakau kava,
Te rere nei a Te Purotu ma Kamoe
Ki te ta i a Tiaori, kua oro na te ara
Kua tapu arumaki , kua topa ki Titama
Kua okioki au, ki te pokipoki aere
Ki te akamoe au , ki te vavao taua.
Kua topa ki Turangi, i karanga mai
"Oi a Tau-ariki, E tama E!
Ka akapua ua ake nei
Omai tai auri, kua tae taku riri
Kua eke mei te rangi, kua pukupuku
Kua ototo ua ake nei taku riri."
I tikai e Makea, kua inga Veretini raua ko Taparau
Kua ao i te kainga kaore iora e ano
Poroki ki te teina "E te Aranui e!
Ei kunei ra koe, ka ano au ra e,"
Oo, ka roa rere e, e.

(It is hardly worth while translating this song, for it only embodies what has already been translated in the story. It is a lament by Rupe and his family for Tapaira and her friends who were carried off. It tells of the deeds of the Europeans seizing the food, etc., desecrating the maraes- how they were killed, etc; how certain men were killed with the rukau-kava (gun); and mentions places where the events happened.

DEATH OF MRS. HUTCHIN

Elderly people in Rarotonga will hear with deep sorrow of the death of Mrs. Hutchin (Atoni Vaine), widow of the Rev. J. J. K. Hutchin, missionary in Rarotonga from 1882 to 1912. With their sorrow there will be mingled the grateful remembrance of her loving and cheerful service in Takamoa, the head station of the L.M.S. in Rarotonga.

Mrs. Hutchin lived with her daughter, Mrs. Roy, at Invercargill, where she died on December 23rd at the advanced age of 94, and was buried on Christmas Day.

Down deep in her heart Mrs. Hutchin had a sincere respect for the Rarotongans; and they responded to this with complete confidence and affection. This affectionate trust was held firmly by her and her husband through the strife and turmoil that arose in the initial stages of New Zealand's administration of the Cook Islands.

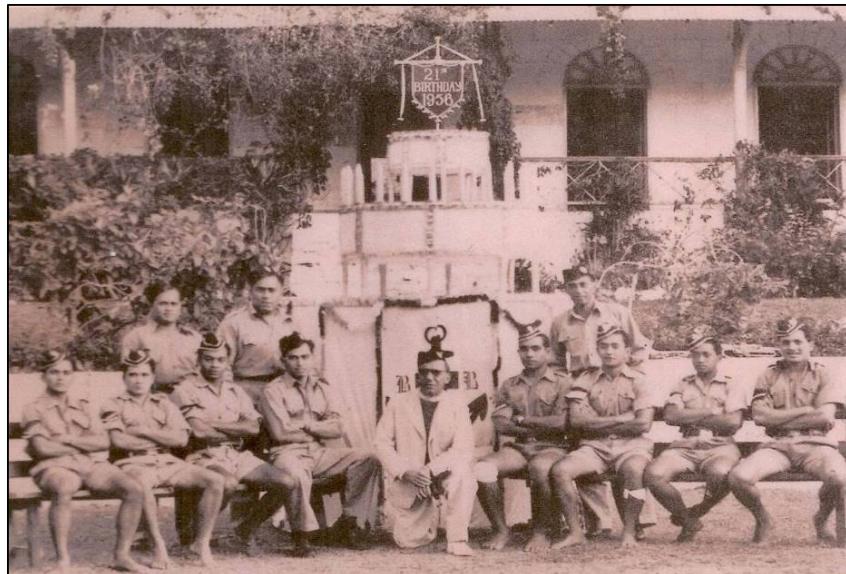

Mrs. Hutchin was a loyal missionary of the L.M.S.; a faithful friend to the people; and an earnest servant of the Lord.

"Eternal rest grant unto her, O Lord".

Boat day at Avarua Harbour about 100 years ago. The pier which extended from the Avarua Wharf Shed towards the reef, was destroyed by Cyclone Dolly in 1967. The harbour handled both inward and outward passengers and general cargo. Planes and air cargo back then were not as developed as today.
