IN THE BEGINNING .....

The 29th Biennial General Assembly of the Cook Islands Christian Church was held in Aitutaki during the week 23-30 October 2011, the 2nd to be held on the island since 1956. It all started in the 2007 assembly held in Rarotonga when the Aitutaki CICC Council (AKE) representative put in a bid for the island to host the 2011 assembly, i.e. 2 assemblies later. The assembly gave its endorsement in principle to the request, and asked that a proper programme for the assembly be submitted to the 2009 assembly. This was done by the chairman of AKE in the 2009 assembly. AKE comprises the 3 parishes of Arutanga, Tautu and Vaipae. For the information of the reader, the total population of Aitutaki equals 2,235 (population census 2006). All 4 manline churches plus a number of smaller/new denominations exist on the island.

Then in early 2010 the island was hit badly by Cyclone Patrick, one of the worse to hit the island for a very long time. Most of the structures on the island, including the Vaipae church, were damaged, and the sensible thing that AKE could have done was to return the hosting of the 2011 assembly back to Rarotonga. However, despite the effects of the cyclone on both the structures and agriculture on the island, AKE in August 2011 reaffirmed to the CICC Executive Council its commitment and desire to proceed with hosting of the 2011 assembly. In the view of AKE and others, time was on their side to allow some recovery to take place and they reckoned that the island will be ready in time for the assembly – that is, if another cyclone doesn't come around again.

GIVING THE GREEN LIGHT

In April 2011 after the official cyclone season for 2010/11 ended, and when it became “almost certain” that no natural disasters will hit Aitutaki again before November, the CICC Head Office in Takamoa, Rarotonga, issued confirmation to all 65 CICC branches in the Cook Islands, New Zealand and Australia, that the 2011 assembly proposed for Aitutaki for the week 23-30 October was “all-go.” A detailed 16-page “Background Information” document for participants to the assembly, including the assembly programme and an attendance confirmation form, was emailed to all CICC parishes as well as its 5 partner organisations. The majority responded/confirmed by the due date of end August of their attendance. Given the technological advances in this day and age, all participants were requested to make their own travel arrangements on-line with the local Air Raro airline company. Everyone did this with minimal hassles.

ARRIVING INTO AITUTAKI

Participants started arriving into Aitutaki a week prior to the assembly, partly for personal reasons. The bulk went over between Tuesday 18 and Saturday 22 October, to be in time for the registration on Saturday 22. Given the confirmation in June 2011 of the re-opening of the Vaipae church scheduled for Friday 21 October, some participants who had already booked to arrive Aitutaki prior to 23 October, had to re-book to arrive in time for the Vaipae function; most were able to do so.

As arranged, registration for all participants took place at the Arutanga CICC Sunday School Hall all-day Saturday 22. The process involved participants confirming to the secretariat their presence, and being issued with identification cards and assembly documents. Except for some minor issues, registration went well.

ACCOMMODATION, TRANSPORT, CATERING

Participants were billeted out to the 4 venues organised by the Arutanga parish, and also to the 2 venues organised by the Vaipae and Tautu parishes. In all, the approximately 200 participants stayed in 6 well-organised venues with all services provided. A small minority chose to stay with their families and friends, and a handful stayed in motels. Transport and all meals were also provided by the 6 hosting venues.

It was pleasing to note that a number of Aitutakians based in New Zealand and Australia came back to Aitutaki during the assembly to assist their parishes and families with the hosting of the assembly. This no doubt helped the 3 parishes a lot with catering for around 200 people for almost 2 weeks.

OPENING OF THE VAIPAE CHURCH

The Vaipae church which was extensively damaged by Cyclone Patrick in February 2010, was closed since then until Friday 21 October 2011; its church services were held during this period in its Sunday School Hall. Renovation on the church commenced in February 2011 and reopened in the presence of the assembly participants on Friday 21. The reopening commenced with dedication of the church bell and church signs outside, then the office and bathrooms, before the audience moved inside for the dedication service of the building. Background of the renovation was presented by the minister of the parish, Rev. Charlie Okotai, before the dedication service was led by the CICC president, Rev. Tangimetua Tangatatutai. After the service, everyone was treated to a sumptuous feed in the Vaipae Community Hall next to the church.

OPENING OF THE ASSEMBLY

The 29th General Assembly of the CICC was opened with a special Sunday service in the Arutanga CICC. A programme specifically set for the service was followed with a number of invitees in attendance. In addition to the church leaders, a number of traditional leaders were also represented, as well as officials on the side of Government (Queen's Representative, Minister of Works, other Government personnel). After the opening service, a big feast was held inside and outside of the Arutanga CICC Sunday School Hall.

DAY 1: WORKSHOP

The whole day Monday 24 October was spent on workshop which covered the following subject matters: climate change, trinity, Orometua & Ekalesia in church growth, church governance & leadership, women & development, youth empowerment, church & tradition. Participants were allocated into the 7 groups with a resource person presenting the subject matter in the first morning session. Then in the second session of the morning (11.00am – 1.00pm), participants discussed and noted down important issues coming out of the presentations, to present in the 2 combined sessions in the afternoon. Facilitators were assigned to each group to assist with their data projection presentations. All groups presented their findings to the combined afternoon sessions. Electronic copies of the presentations were made available to those with computer sticks and/or laptops.

DAY 2: ASSEMBLY IN ARUTANGA

The first day of the assembly was convened in the Arutanga CICC. The following assembly agenda items were covered:

- Minutes of the last assembly, and update on the Resolutions of that assembly
  - Report of the president
  - Report of the General Secretary
  - Report of the General Treasurer
- Report of the Takamoa Theological College Principal
  - Report on the Tepuka Project
- Report of the Director of Social Welfare
  - Report of the Director of Evangelism
  - Report of the Acting Director of Youth

All participants received copies of the reports which were given to them during registration on Saturday 22 October.

DAY 3: GOSPEL (NUKU) DAY

A most enjoyable day was had by all with respect to the programme organised by AKE for the day. The day started off at 10.00am with a special commemorative service held in the Arutanga CICC, followed by a remembrance service outside the church where Papeiha's commemorative headstone stood. Thereafter, assembly participants and invited guests had light before embarking on the Vaipae Village sports ground for the annual national Gospel (Nuku) Day celebration. The Nuku pageant ran from 1.00pm to almost 5.00pm. To most people who witnessed the afternoon's programme, it was the most enjoyable Nuku day they have come across in their lives. The many items put up by the 3 Ekalesias, which included the assembly participants, captivated everyone's attention. The liveliness of the show during the whole afternoon was most enjoyable, never seen before especially by those from outside of Aitutaki. A job very well done by AKE.

After the Nuku pageant, everyone was treated to a hefty dinner fit for the king in the Vaipae Community Hall put up by the SDA community on Aitutaki. The food was so plentiful that even after everyone had eaten, there was still food galore on the tables. The phrase; "kai e takatakai" – eat and stamp on it or walk over it – applied in the true sense of the word to this catering.

DAY 4: ASSEMBLY IN TAUTU

The 2nd day of the assembly was convened in the Tautu CICC. The following assembly agenda items were covered:

- Report of the Rarotonga CICC Council
- Report of the Director of Publication
- Report of the Northern Islands
- Report of the Southern Islands
- Report of the CICC New Zealand Council
- Report of the CICC Australia Council
- Report of the CICC Women's Fellowship
- Report of the Bicentennial Committee
- Ministers rotation programme 2011-2015
- Remits

DAY 5: ASSEMBLY IN VAIPAE

The 3rd and last day of the assembly was convened in the Vaipae CICC. The following assembly agenda items were covered:

- Presentation by the 2013 assembly host (Victoria CICC Council) and supporters (CICC Australia Council)
- Presentation by partner organisations: Congregational Union of NZ, Presbyterian Church of Aotearoa New Zealand (PCANZ),

and the Etaretia Porotetani Maohi of French Polynesia

- Election of the president and principal
- Closing of the business part of the assembly

DAY 6: DAY-TRIP TO THE MOTU

To take the participants away from the mainland and give them a real break, AKE organised day-trips to the out-lying islets (motu). Almost all participants took advantage of the recreational programme, much to their satisfaction. Lunch was provided on the motu, and by late afternoon everyone was back on the mainland.

DAY 7: CLOSING OF THE ASSEMBLY

The assembly closed its 29th session in the Arutanga CICC on Sunday 30. It was during this service that 8 Takamoa graduates of 2009 were ordained as ministers. They are all allocated to Ekalesias in the Cook Islands, New Zealand and Australia. The service was conducted by the new president, Rev. Tuaine Ngametua, followed by lunch in the Arutanga Sunday School Hall.

DAY 8: ONE-TO-ONE SESSIONS BETWEEN REPS & THE CICC EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Monday 31 October was devoted to 30-minute one-to-one sessions between the CICC Executive Council and representatives of the various Ekalesias who had specific matters and issues they wanted to discuss with the council. This took the whole day; those who missed out were re-scheduled for Wednesday 2nd November in the Head Office at Takamoa, Rarotonga.

OUTCOMES OF THE ASSEMBLY

The outcomes of the discussions on those matters covered in the assembly are recorded in the assembly minutes which also included the resolutions. Hard copies were distributed on Saturday evening 29 October, and soft copies downloaded onto the flash sticks of those who brought one.

STATUS OF AKE'S HOSTING

Given that (1) the island was so badly damaged by Cyclone Pat in 2010, and (2) there are only 3 parishes on the island to look after approximately 200 people for almost 2 weeks, the way the assembly was hosted by AKE in terms of accommodation, meals, transport, and other logistical arrangements, can only be described as "simply amazing." The whole organisation of the assembly and logistics were very well executed to the extent that as far as hiccups and other negative aspects were concerned, there was really nothing worth talking about.

As a result of how the participants were treated, departure was certainly very emotional for almost everybody. No doubt people left the island completely satisfied with the way things were organised by AKE for the benefit of the participants themselves in particular, and the assembly in general.

Straight after the assembly, the Takamoa Head Office issued 2 communiqués both of which acknowledged the great contribution by AKE to the success of the assembly. The first was by the General Secretary dated 1 November 2011, and the second was by the new president on the home page of the CICC website which was aired during the whole of November 2011.

THE LAST WORD

I can't find a better way to wrap up this article than to quote perhaps Aitutaki's well-known song from the 1960s. Many thanks to the AKE secretary, Teva Simiona, who managed to convince his aunty to give him the lyrics at the request of the General Secretary. I'm pleased to finish off this article by quoting that famous Aitutakian song about a certain type of hat:

(After the intro chant/pe'e)

*Koai teia e tere nei e
Mei te tumu rangi teretere e
Koau teia tuma tai e
Tuma tai o akaora
Turoto enua taku i akaau
Aka au maramarama
Te anau tamaine a te ika moeava
E rongo taku akarongo
Kua ura ki te rangi
E purotu ki te anakenake

E pee teia o te pare ukarau ukarau
Te pare o taku teina
Te pare ra ia o taku teina
E tiki tini e taoirangi e
E manu tauranga e vaine puna rua
Ka vai tumarama.

Ukarau ukarau te pare rakeu e
Ukarau ukarau te pare rakeu e

Tiri au e na tokerau
Te rangatira ia ko tai karanga i to pare
E taunga e taunga e tamaki

Ukarau ukarau te pare rakeu e
Ukarau ukarau te pare rakeu e*

With their thumbs up, reps from Manihiki reckon the assembly went pretty well.

May the memory of the 29th assembly live on for all time to come. Kia orana e kia manuia rava i roto i te ingoa maanaana o to tatou Atu e te Akaora ko lesu Mesia.

JOURNAL OF A VOYAGE

This is a 9-part series of the record by Rev. John Williams during his trip to the Cook Islands in 1823. Deciphered from the original by Winnie Risto in March 2010 while residing with husband Herbert Risto in Rarotonga. Some punctuation has been added by Winnie to enhance the meaning, but most has been left as it was in John Williams' Journal. The Ristos are from Canada and have been visiting Rarotonga since the 1960s; Herbert teaches at the Takamoa Theological College while in Rarotonga.

Chapter 9 (continued from newsletter 39)

Papeiha then expressed his readiness to remain if we wished it, we commended him much for his zeal and steadfastness at Aitutaki and saw that if it was fully agreeable to him we should rejoice much, and would send by the return of the vessel any person to join him in his work that he wished, provided he was thought a suitable person by the church at Raiatea and provided it was agreeable to the person he named. He mentioned a man by the name of Titerio(?)�.

We are both disappointed and grieved at the event, but the Lord will do his own work in a way that will best promote his own glory. It is a matter of great satisfaction that we had Papeiha with us and that he was willing to go. The work, we trust, will be accomplished speedily. We exhorted Tairi, Teiro and all the Rarotonga people we had brought from Aitutaki not to cast off Papeiha and to be steadfast in their profession – to attend family _?(prayers?)

We took an affectionate leave of him and commended him to God and the power of his grace. In the evening we set sail for Raiatea – on the 20th day of July- praising God for prospering our journey thus far. As soon as the teachers came on board, they related the following conversation they had with the Rarotonga people. They were questioned by the Rarotonga people as to their business. They replied – to instruct you in the word of the true God. The people said if we receive that God, we shall surely be strangled by our own god. We replied that it was out of the power of wood to destroy them – that the gods of which they were now afraid – were our gods formerly but now they were all consumed with fire. They asked us how many Islands had destroyed their gods. We told them Tahiti and all the Society Islands. At Aitutaki ,also, all the maraes were destroyed and idols burnt. At Atiu, Mitiaro and Maute (Mauke) they had determined to do the same.

They expressed their surprise by saying Ae – we said why do you say Ae. We fear we shall all be destroyed by the god – they replied. We told them not to fear- to receive the word of God- pray to Jehovah in Jesus and they would not be destroyed. We asked them saying – What is your god- they replied- it is wood worked with our hands- we told them that ours was the same formerly. We cut down wood and decorated it, platted sinnet and lashed red feathers to it -made cloth for it- placed it in the marae and called it a powerful god. It killed our children and sacrifices were taken to it – is it not so with yours. Yes said they but shall not we and our children die if we receive that God. We told them that God would not strangle and kill the children as the evil spirit did but both themselves and their children would die with sickness which is common to all – that God's goodness was great in giving food to all and water also – They exclaimed Water, that is the gift of our god – we replied it is out of the power of your god to give either food or water – do you not plant food of various kind – bananas, sugar cane, taro and when they are ripe, do you not take them before the marae with pigs and fish that you catch –

Yes- said they – does he eat it, does he consume it- - no- what becomes of it we asked. Part of it rots said they and part of it is eaten by the rats – upon this they set up a general laugh of derision at their gods – perhaps the first ever witnessed at Rarotonga – saying, true, perhaps our gods are all deceivers and they have brought us the truth-yes we replied – this indeed is the truth that we have brought. We then asked them, saying, how do you act when you cut down a tree, part of which you make into a god. What do you do with the other part of it? We said how can that be when you make a god of one part-how indeed said they-it's all deceit and again laughed at their own folly. The teachers, hearing their wives scream out, were obliged to leave the people and go to their assistance.

Another conversation is rather of a singular nature as it gives us to suppose that they had some intimate knowledge of Raiatea formerly – a Rarotonga man said- we are all from the Tabutabuatea, (a great marae in Raiatea) our land Rarotonga was formerly joined to Opoa (the name of the district in which the marae stands) two people belonging to our land Pavauri(?) and Pasatea(?) were killed- the god therefore removed our land to this distance, you were separated and became strangers to us and we became strangers to you. They continued, saying, that Tane – Taaraoa Oro and all the great gods of Raiatea were from Rarotonga. The great drum called Taimoana of Raiatea was from Rarotonga and that Pavauri and Pasatea took it to Raiatea and were killed.

The Raiateans have the same tradition. Taaou, a Raiatean native sailor being detained on shore during the night with the boat had the following conversation with the people. They said to him, where is Oro? Faaori replied, he is burned with the fire and we shall never worship him again. Were you not all killed said they- no, replied Faaori, none of us were hurt- not the king, was not he killed-no, said Faaori, his is still alive and well. They said to him, we shall perhaps be fought by the people of the other side of the Island if we burn our gods. Taaori said to them – do not fear if you worship the true God you will not be conquered by them. They enquired after Tamatoa the king of Raiatea, saying, will he not come to see us? Faaori told them if they received the good work of God Tamatoa would come to see them. If they did not his king would not come and see them.

They enquired particularly who burned the gods, the Cooky's or Tamatoa and his people. Faaori replied- the Cooky's taught them the word and worship of the true God and they destroyed the false ones. Cooky's is a name given to English people from hearing of Captain Cook. They enquired how many Cooky's there were on board our ship, meaning how many white people. At New Zealand Cooky is the name for a slave. They asked Faaori who was the first parent. Faaori said – Adam. They replied Tii is the first man. Faaori said who was the first woman. They replied she was Tii's wife. He asked them from whence she came. They were completely at a loss. Then he told them that she was a rib taken by God from the first man he made. They said to him – how could she possibly come out? He told them that God caused a sleep to fall upon Adam and took a rib from him of which he made Eve the first woman. They said – who is God? - He replied Jehovah is the true God. They expressed their surprise by exclaiming Ae – yes, continued he, God made all these lands, the sea, the heavens – your land also and all that is on it. They said the Tau and the Aito. Yes, said he, all- they said will not man die in this good word – yes, replied Faaori – the Fau and Aito – names of trees.....body will but the soul is regarded by the word of God as of the greatest value.

They asked Faaori how the Raiateans acted in war. He told them that they formerly were very cruel – ripping up women, stringing children and killing men. They asked him if there was any war now – he told them –no- the word of God was received, regarded and learned by us, therefore we had no war – they asked him if it was good. He told them it was very good- that we were not _ with spears and cruelty now but died of sickness in the houses of their friends and continued Faaori, out of pure compulsion we are come to you to teach you the word of the true God before you quite consume each other in killing each other for the evil spirit. They asked Faaori what the tuitui was – he could not understand them. Thy kneeled down shut their eyes and began to mutter to make Faaori understand – he told them it was prayer and understood that the teachers in the midst of all their lewd treatment had had family prayer on shore. They asked him if that was the way to pray and not go before the marae. He told them that the marae and the Varua ino/Evil Spirit/ was all deceit and that was the way to pray to the true God.

Just before the teachers left the shore Kainuku, the Chief, was very urgent with Vahineino to go and reside at his districts on the other side of the Island and there he would exchange wives with him, saying you give me yours and I will give you mine. They told him that nothing of the kind would be agreeable to them. It would be a great sin. He still persisted in his demand and through the influence of custom and lust could not be convinced of the impropriety of the exchange.

We took our departure from Rarotonga, being the seventh Island we had visited. One the 26th July and after a passage of 12 days from Rarotonga and an absence of 5 weeks, we entered the harbor of Raiatea decorated with trophies of victory obtained by King Jesus. A large idol was hung _?__ _?__ yard arm – one at the bows _?__ and another at the boom end. We have been greatly favored, as it respects weather and winds, mercifully preserved from all dangers and wonderfully blessed in our endeavors to propagate the gospel of our God and savior. To our great joy we found our wives, families and friends in health. Surely the hand of the Lord hath been over us for good- the desire gratefully to record all his mercies and to send and be spent in the promotion of his glory.

I remain then Dear Brother ____?

Yours very affectionately,

J. Williams

NEWS HIGHLIGHTS FROM YESTER-YEARS

"KO TE KARERE" (Karere) is a regular publication of the Cook Islands Christian Church. Its format has changed a few times over the years. Up to the 1970s, the Karere was published monthly and comprised of 3 parts: (1) scripture readings and uapou questions for each Sunday of the month, (2) a section set aside specifically for Sunday School, and (3) news, notices and announcements for the benefit of the CICC's branches on Rarotonga and in the outer islands. There were no branches in New Zealand and Australia back in those days. Printing was done at Takamoa by the LMS Press.

The Karere is still published today but on an annual basis and is confined to the Sunday scripture readings and uapou questions. News, notices and announcements are published in the bimonthly CICC newsletter. Both publications, in addition to others, are distributed to the CICC's 23 branches in the Cook Islands, New Zealand (22) and Australia (17) in both printed form as well as electronically. They are also available on the CICC's website (www.cicc.net.ck).

This section of the newsletter is devoted to bringing back memories of by-gone years. By reprinting in their original form some of the news articles from the church's past, one can virtually travel back in time and try to experience how things might have been then. For the next few issues of this newsletter, between 3/4 pages of published articles will be reproduced.

The CICC Head Office in Takamoa is greatly indebted to Ngata Urirau, Elder of the Avarua/Matavera Ekalesias for making available copies of the 1950s Karere from his possession for use in this CICC newsletter, thankyou very much. Anybody else who has old CICC records that may be of interest to the public and would like them reproduced in this newsletter, please contact the General Secretary at Takamoa on cicccgs@oyster.net.ck or phone 26547.

THE ADVENTURES OF PAPEIHA

The Conversion of the Aitutakians to Christianity
as told by Papeiha to Rev. John Williams

Far away over the edge of the sea, said a gray-haired, wrinkled old Raiatean to John Williams, there is an island called Rarotonga. Once upon a time it was here, close by Raiatea; but the gods carried it away and put it down in the sea many days sail distant. But why did the gods take away your neighbour island? Asked Williams. Long ago, replied the old man, the people of Rarotonga made a great drum called Taimoana, the Sounder of the Seas. They said, "We will give the Sounder of the Seas—the War Drum-to Oro the god of war in Raiatea." So they sent men of Rarotonga with the drum in a canoe to us here in Raiatea; and the people danced with joy to have the Sounder of the Seas in the temple of Oro.

But when the drum had been given to Oro, our people grew angry with the men of Rarotonga who had come with the gift; and they speared and clubbed them so that they died. Then were the gods furious, because we had killed the friends who brought so noble a drum. To punish us they took up the island of Rarotonga, which was a great island, and all the people upon it, and carried them over the seas.

Where did they carry them? Asked John Williams, Now eager to discover this hidden island of the seas. The old man hesitated and furrowed his forehead with perplexity. I do not know, he replied at last, but I think it was over there. Turning, he stretched out a gaunt brown arm pointing south-west.

Williams told the whole legend to his colleagues Threlkeld and Bourne. It was decided that Bourne should sail with Williams, first to Aitutaki to visit Papeiha and Vahapata and see how their work went on among the wild people of that island; and then to cruise southward in search of the mysterious island of Rarotonga. The people of Raiatea, when they heard of this, were eager to help. They chose four men of their own island and two from Tahaa (the smaller island just to the north of Raiatea but within the same reef). The people all met together in a service for dedicating these brown missionaries and their wives to the new and perilous work. They had set their minds on sending to every one of the Cook Islands men who would carry the story of the Father-God who cannot be seen, and would lead the people to burn the wooden gods of war in great fires, scattering their ashes over the sea.

The white beach was brown with Raiateans, fathers and mothers, boys and girls, as the canoe put out from the shore to carry the little expeditionary force aboard. The schooner, which had been called The Endeavor when Williams bought her at Sydney, now, received a new christening from the Raiateans. They called her The Beginning (Te Matamua). Then the sails were set; and, with her bow turned south-west, the ship went gaily on her voyage with the sunlight flashing back from the waters and with pursuing breezes. The little ship sailed for five days and nights, without tempest or rain. Then the hills of Aitutaki were sighted, breaking the endless rim of the blue ocean. In a few hours they were off the reef and, having made the western entrance, the ship was soon floating at anchor in the lagoon.

The water of the lagoon was by this time white with the froth of canoes paddling swiftly toward the ship. The men of Aitutaki at once tried to swarm aboard. But John Williams had decided to have no one aboard till he had seen either the chief or one of the teachers; as the natives, if they were out for plunder, could easily have captured Te Matamua and slaughtered her crew. Every canoe-crew that came alongside saluted Williams and the men as they swung their paddles cried out: The Good Word has taken root in Aitutaki. Good is the Word of God. It is now well with Aitutaki. There was a stir among the boats as way was made for the canoe of a chief of Aitutaki to come alongside. Tebati climbed aboard and said to Williams: See the white flag flying on the flagstaff by the teacher's houses. The maraes have been destroyed; bonfires have been made of the idols; not a man remains who worships them. We have built a great worship house for Jehovah. It is nearly 200 feet long; is made of wood and white plaster. We wait for you to come and declare the Word in it.

Then Papeiha and Vahapata came aboard, their faces beaming with happiness to see their friend and leader Viriamu again. With them and the chief, Williams and Bourne went ashore and were overjoyed to see that these people, the wildest savages whom Williams had ever seen, had now built their own beautiful simple church for the worship of the Christ, and were making for themselves clean wood and plaster cottages in place of the old huts.

Next day the sound was heard of a man striking on the head of an axe with a stone as he walked along the road followed by an ever-growing crowd of the people all going toward the new church. He was ringing the axe (for there was no bell) to call the people to go to church. When the building was filled, Papeiha and Vahapata, with the six new teachers and their wives who had come with Williams from Raiatea and Tahaa, sat before the pulpit. John Williams preached to them all on the words, "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but has everlasting life. John Williams, after the service, told Papeiha that he intended to try to find Rarotonga. But the people of Aitutaki told gruesome things of the Rarotongans: that they were a most ferocious people, horrible cannibals, as treacherous as they were fierce. This peril, however, would not stop Williams from searching for the island.

They were aboard again, with Papeiha, having left new teachers on Aitutaki. Hundreds of brown hands waved farewell from the beach as they heaved up the anchor and set sail. With gathering speed, she slipped out through the reef-passage and her bows swing southward in search of Rarotonga. The long slow billows of the Pacific slid under the schooner as she nosed her way toward the Southern Cross. John Williams and Papeiha walked her cramped decks or sat under the steady shadow of the sail, talking of the wonderful experiences of Papeiha on Aitutaki like nothing that had ever happened to any of his race in all the times of the ancient gods.

What happened when you landed and we sailed away? Asked Williams. They took hold of us, said Papeiha, and led us up to the maraes. There they dedicated us to the very gods whom we came to sweep away. They did us no harm then. We lived among the people and spoke to them of Jehovah. But war broke out between one tribe and another on the island: and fierce warriors came and stole all our cloths and other goods. Again and again the tribes fought: three times there was war. Did you not feel cast down by the wars? Asked Williams. No, answered Papeiha, with his brave smile, we knew that all was in the hand of God, and that He would use the war to overthrow the worship of idols in the island.

After the last war, he went on; we went all round the island, speaking everywhere. One day, when there was a great crowd of people listening, an old, old priest came. And he cried out: "Te-erui made all lands, he made Aitutaki; and after he had made it he gave it its present shape by molding it with his hands." "No, no," we replied, this is not so, God alone, the Almighty has power to create. But the old priest went on calling out, "Great is Teerui; he was the first man." Then I asked him who Te-erui's father was. "Oh", he replied, he was Te-tareva and he came from Avaiki, which is beneath. Te-tareva climbed up from the place that is under till he arrived here at the top." "This land was made, then," I asked, "before Te-tareva came?" "Most certainly", replied the priest. "Then how can Te-erui be the make of the land which was here before even his father come up from beneath?"

The poor old priest was perplexed at this, Papeiha went on, and wrinkled his brow to find an answer, but could not. As he kept silent I and the others began to speak of God to the people, saying that He was before anything that was made and that He is from everlasting to everlasting. This was so new to the people that they sat spellbound, and if any one made the slightest noise they called out, "Be still, be still, let us hear, till I told them of the love of God in sending His Son into the world to save men, when they exclaimed:

"Surely this is the truth, ours is all lies!" "And then? Asked John Williams! Then, continued Papeiha, some of the people became Christians, but others raged against them, and threatened to kill them and us. "Who are these fellows? The heathen people asked, and pointed to Vahapata and me. "They are just two logs of driftwood, washed on the shore by the waves of the ocean. They say a great canoe with white wings will come to them, but it never will come."

A little time afterward the people rushed to the beach. For the ship of which you spoke to us came, and the captain of the ship made presents of axes and pigs and goats to the chiefs. Then the people turned and said: "Behold we called these men driftwood, but they have friends who have sent a great ship of Beritani and they have brought wonderful things such as we never saw before." Soon after that the people began to ask us to tell them more and they said they would give up their old gods; but the ancient grandfather of the chief of Aitutaki would not move from his gods. While he was in the midst of feasting the gods, his daughter, whom he loved very much, was taken ill; and all his priests, morning, noon, and night, day after day, called on the gods to restore her; but she died. "Go", said the old man in anger to his son early next morning, go burn them." And the son set fire to the marae and the gods; and three of them were burned.

It was strange on the next Sabbath, continued Papeiha, to see many people coming down laden with their idols. They threw the gods at our feet, saying, "Take them; we will worship them no more." On the third Sabbath all the people in the island came together under a great grove of chestnut-trees, where the thick leaves let through, here and there, the light of the sun; and where the breeze from the ocean came up and moved softly among the branches.

On the next morning they came together again. I spoke to them, saying, "You have with your hands, and by work from the rising to the setting sun, built the maraes in which you worship these gods of yours who are not true gods. Now you come and say you will no longer worship these your idols. Two things I set before you. First let all the maraes in the island be destroyed; and let all the idols that now remain be brought to me. These we will send away to Raiatea that they there may be glad at the triumphs of the Word. Secondly, let us ourselves build, in the place of the maraes, a great house for the worship of Jehovah.

To these things the people called out, "Yes" They went, some here, some there, throughout the island, and quickly the flames of the old temples roared into the sky. Then, in a long procession, winding down the paths, they came hearing their idols, which they laid down at our feet. We gave to them a few copies of our Gospel in their language. Trees were cut down, and the framework of a building was put up, different from any ever seen in Aitutaki. When the frame was finished Vahapata and I took thatch-the length of a reed-and thatched up to the ridge-pole. When the people saw how it was done, they ran to help; and they were so busy that, in two days, the whole roof, 200 feet in length, was finished. Then I said to the chiefs: "Send your people to cut down much wood for fire; and to bring up from the shore coral rock." So we laid a great pile of wood, and on it placed the coral rock and set light to the fire. As soon as the flames began to blaze the people danced with excitement.

"O these men from afar, they are roasting the stones! They are roasting the stones! Come hurricane and blow down our bananas and our breadfruit! Never shall we suffer famine again. The men from afar are teaching us to roast stones." Night fell, and all went to their rest. In the morning, to their utter astonishment, the people found the burnt coral was a beautiful powder, soft and white. They actually whitewashed their hats and clothes with it and strutted about, admiring each other. A piece of the wall of the church had been wattled. Vahapata and I took wet sand from the shore, mixed it with the roasted stone, plastered it over the wattle, and hung mats over to prevent the people from scratching the coral plaster before it became hard. Early on the following morning, the chiefs and all the people, men, women, and children, hurried to the place. We took off the covering and a sheet of beautiful white plastering showed itself to their wondering eyes. They all pressed forward to examine it: some put their noses to it and smelt it; some scratched it; while others took up stones and struck it.

"Wonderful, wonderful!" they said. "The very stones in the sea and the sand on the shore become good to have in the hands of those who worship the true God and who listen to His good Word". So, ended the story which Papeiha told to John Williams as they sailed over the seas in quest of Rarotonga. The heart of John Williams was glad within him and proud that these brown men-Papeiha and Vahapata whom he himself had led into the Way, had in so short a space overthrown the old worship of the demon-gods. Even at that hour the ferns began to throw fresh greenness over the charred and fallen timbers of the dark temples of Aitutaki, and, from the height of the island's topmost hill down to there the edge of the water frets the coral beach; all men worshipped the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.
